ALMA MATER

Hail Darby High School Noble and strong To thee with loyal hearts We raise our song!

Swelling to heaven, loud our praises ring, Hail Darby High School To thee we sing!

Majesty as a crown
Rests on thy brow.
Pride, honor, glory, love
Before thee bow.
Ne'er shall thy spirit die
Nor thy walls decay.
Hail Darby High School
For thee we pray!

To the Members of the Class of 1941:

On behalf of the Darby School Board I wish to extend my greetings to you who are about to graduate. This year you will go out into a world torn by strife and turmoil. Each of you must face the future with an abiding faith in representative government and with a firm belief that our system of government has more to offer than any other system in the world. Let no foreignism find lodgment within you. Let no class hatred or bitterness for any man because of race, or creed, or color warp your lives. Be honorable, truthful, and industrious. Keep yourselves mentally, morally, and spiritually clean. Remember always that education without character is like a watch without a main spring. Whatever you do, wherever you may be, do your best!

Sincerely yours,

ARTHUR P. BREThERICK
President Darby Borough
School Board

MR. GALEN RINIER, Custodian

March 30, 1941

To the Class of 1941:

You graduate into a nation girding itself for the defense of human liberty. You are the heirs of this most priceless possession because those who came before you labored, sacrificed, and oftentimes suffered to think honestly, speak freely, and reach decisions through an intelligent compromise of different ideas.

To defend this way of life from foes without, you must help make this nation too strong to be attacked. To defend it from foes within, you must distinguish between facts and propaganda, think calmly, and give the same credit for honesty, sincerity, and patriotism to individuals or groups who differ with you, as you expect for yourself or your group.

Through working together and the intelligent compromise of differences, you must help show the world that our nation can solve its internal problems and prepare for defense without losing the human liberty we are preparing to defend.

This may require labor, sacrifice, and suffering, the equal of your predecessors, but if you do this, you will live long enough to realize it was worth doing.

Sincerely yours,
WALTER R. DOUTHETT
Superintendent

Nor deem the irrevocable Past,
As wholly wasted, wholly vain,
If, rising on its wrecks, at last
To something nobler we attain.

To you, Miss Merrells, we wish to express our most sincere thanks and appreciation for your untiring efforts in our behalf throughout our school years. The Senior and Junior plays—the class meetings—the school dances—the Junior promenade and the 1941 Yearbook . . . all these attest to your endeavors for us. We sincerely hope that future days at Darby High will prove to be happy but more restful ones for you. As the years go by, we shall try to exemplify the ideals you hold for us throughout our lives.

A D V I S E R S

MR. WILLIAM STRUBLE

We the class of 1941, in an effort to show our high esteem for a fine business manager and adviser, are grateful to you, Mr. Struble, for your close friendship and for the encouragement you have given us, and for establishing in each of us a feeling of intense loyalty to our class and to our school.

Our school life would have been incomplete without you and we seniors wish you the best that life has to offer.

Mildred Smiley, Viola Barbini, Elizabeth Haldeman, Dorothy Tramdack, Lillian Casper, Margaret Franck, Joseph Basilio, Stephen Mattola, Francis Meara, George Marsden, Ann Hartnett, James Fletcher, Jane Waldie, Gloria Wheatley, and Dorothea Tyler.

SYNOPSIS

The entire play takes place from 1899 to 1914 in the town of Grover's Corners, New Hampshire, and in its cemetery on a nearby hilltop.

ACT I

The daily life of the town's people.

ACT II

The love and marriage of Emily and George.

ACT III

The burial of Emily and her return to earth.

Dear Miss Merrells

Our thanks for an evening well spent in seeing Wilder's "Our Town". The whole production was fine and quite an undertaking for the Junior Class.

I appreciate the difficulty one has in presenting spiritual plays.

Yours truly
MARION L. PUGH

My dear Miss Merrells

It is with pleasure and satisfaction that we note the acclaim in this vicinity of the successful rendition of the Junior Class's presentation of "Our Town". It has established a criterion for future performances. Again, congratulations.

Very truly yours
ARTHUR WORTHINGTON

Dear Miss Merrells

Frankly I was very skeptical as to the ability of an adolescent group to present such a spiritual play. I have never seen a play presented by an amateur cast in which the players had not only a thorough mastery of stage techniques, but a complete understanding of and feeling for the thought contained in the play as did your cast in "Our Town".

Yours very truly
ALBERT M. LAWLEY
Principal, Ridge Avenue School

OUR TOWN

Our Town, given by the Junior Class, was a huge success.

It is so different from any other given in our school. The imagination of the audience was used to a great extent. Despite this handicap "Our Town" was received with great enthusiasm by the audience.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

To William Castagna
Street and No. Darby
Place Pa

Nov. 26, 1941

Can you arrange an audition of the cast of the third act of Thompson's "The Old Homestead" at the Knickerbocker on Friday, November 29, at two o'clock?

CHAMBERLAIN BROWN

Dear Miss Merrells,

Years ago I saw Mr. A. E. Thompson interpret the role of "Uncle Joshua Whitcomb" in "The Old Homestead." I liked your presentation very much. When you come again to New York, please let me know, as I was interested very much in your method of directing.

Sincerely yours,

ALICE FOOTE MACDOUGALL

Knickerbocker Hotel,
New York City,
December 1, 1940.

Mr. Warren Harwick,
302 South 4th Street,
Darby, Pa.

My dear Mr. Harwick:

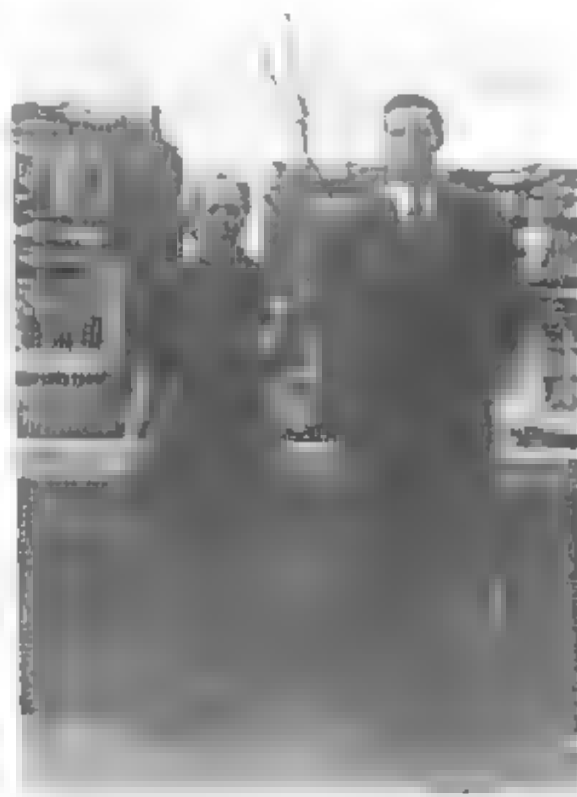

I thought you showed a lot of promise and held the situation like a troupier. Also Mr. Castagna, the apple woman, and "Uncle Josh's" son, Reuben, were all good. The comments I received demand that I learn more of your interesting group, so well handled by the director. Her speech made a great impression and many of the audience want me to run in my paper the Theatre Record, her biography as they are interested. She has trained you all very well, and "The Old Homestead" was a treat. Now I am asking you to mail me her name and address as well as the names of all the cast.

Will you mail me a snap shot or picture of yourself. There will be a big review in next week's "Theatre Record."

My regards,

CHAMBERLAIN BROWN

In response to the telegram these members of "The Old Homestead" cast went to New York accompanied by Miss Merrells, director: Margaret Willis, Rose Colangelo, Daniel Bove, Warren Robertson, William Castagna, Warren Harwick. Mr. Brown's subsequent letter is printed above.

1960

B7 RICHARD GRAYBOYES

For my 1960 vacation, I decided on a trip to New York. I went to the Pennsylvania Station to buy tickets. As I walked through the ramp I turned around at hearing my name called and there was Mr. Warren J. Harwick, Superintendent of the Philadelphia district of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He also was going to New York. As we boarded the train, we greeted our old school mates, Arthur Housen, Reginald Johnson, and Solomon Ellison, who were the Pullman porters. As we traveled over we talked of the theatres, museums, business, and pleasure we were planning to enjoy. Upon leaving the train, we journeyed to the Shelbourne Hotel, where our reservations had been made with our College Preparatory buddies, Roland Hamilton and Thomas Olsen, who were the proprietor and manager respectively. After discussing old times, we decided to walk down Forty seventh Street to Fiftieth. Among the many signs that caught my eye was "Martin and Worthington, Mechanical Engineers." As we entered and presented our cards, three voices greeted me with, "If you don't recall us, we remember you." As the scales of twenty years fell from my eyes, I immediately recognized these as Elizabeth Haldeman, Harriet Zisovitz, and Marie McCormick. Having exchanged excited good wishes, we then asked to see Mr. Martin and Mr. Worthington we entered their offices and were greeted also by Ralph Grundy and Harry Jackle who were the chief engineers of the same company. We reviewed past times with many a chuckle and I left realizing that Jackle and Grundy were the same "old reliables."

We decided on a bus ride. We boarded a crowded bus and found that Karl Haag was the driver. He told me of his wife, who was the former Elizabeth Stevens. On our way down town we passed a movie house that advertised the play, "He Stayed for Lunch." Beneath were the stars names—our own Harry Hoooven and Rose Colangelo the latter known as Rose Colan. The added feature was a vaudeville act which featured Warren Robertson and Dick Christie in a Minstrel show. As we rode on, we passed the prosperous looking Mark Von Zech Commercial Studios, while in the very next block the sign of the great New York daily, "The World Sun," attracted our attention, as it was owned by the wealthy Donald Bretherick. His manager of circulation was Bill Gallagher the "old paper boy of 1941." Both are very successful. As Jean and Don were entertaining Darbyites, we decided to accept their pressing invitation to dinner later in the week. As usual Harwick was interested in "chewing the rag" with everyone. He stopped to greet his friends at the new Municipal Hospital, whose Doctors—Ramseur and Yates—were assistant physicians and the head nurses were two old friends, Ruth Riggins and Charmian Somers, while the other nurses there were Cladith Robinson, Gwendolyn Green, Ella Adams, Rosanna Collins, and Lillian Caspar; then I rode on to Mt. Sinai Hospital to see Dr. B. B. Bycer, the head of the staff. He took me to the private room of Norman Leventhal, who had been the instructor in the Juilliard School of Music. I toured the rest of the hospital and went back to Fiftieth Street to meet Harwick.

As we entered the New York State Court's Chambers we sat down to hear the criminal lawyer, Castagna, complete his argument against Joe Schully, the captured killer, (a former Collingdale graduate). I glanced at the Judge's platform and was not at all surprised to see His Honor, Robert Furman. His role was to end disputes, formerly he began them. We stayed a few minutes and returned to the subway. Emerging in the fashionable quarters part of the city, we noticed a high class dress shop and saw that the owners were Ann Hartnett and Dorothea Tyler. We went in to greet the proprietors. I was extremely happy to hear of their good fortune. Next we visited New York's most progressive model school. Here Dorothy Hill was Principal and Margaret Franck was Physical Director. I was further startled when I learned that Katherine Shillady, Grace MacRae, and Jane Waldie were on the teaching staff, also, I made the rounds of the school and returned to my hotel.

As I was resting before going to dinner, I recalled that Norman Leventhal had told me that his "Super Swingsters" were giving an entertainment. So I "chucked" the dinner and hurried off. In his orchestra were Francis Meara, Joseph Burke, Franklin Kauffman, and James Fletcher. Mildred Smiley was the soprano vocalist and Joseph Basilio was the baritone. They strutted their stuff unusually well. At midnight we arrived at our bedrooms. The day and night had been so full of excitement that I could not sleep, so I picked up the popular magazine "Swish." On opening it, I saw that Ray Driscoll was editor-in-chief with Tom Lynch as manager. Finally I slept and when next morning I came into the lobby the open door of an artistic hair-dressing shop caught my eye. As I gazed I saw Dolores Blythe, Shirley Afflerbach, and Luella Gillen, the regular hairdressers entering for the day's work. After eating my breakfast I went to the switchboard for incoming calls. The operator, who surprisingly enough was Adeline Adokuski, another old school chum, told me that no calls had come for me. We went next to the new Post Office and in inquiring for mail, the clerk said, "I'm not a bit surprised, that you don't know me." It was William St. Clair, who called Harvey George and Cornelius Donovan, other employees over. I sent my packages up to my Hotel. We then visited the great Radio City Music Hall. As I read the program I saw that the Supervisor was Dorothy Tramdack. She seemed happy to see us and called Mary Mattia, her private secretary, and Eleanor Shillady at the information desk, also Robert Bell, and Francis Baxter, from the Box Office to come to speak to us.

As we ate lunch at a restaurant we were dumbfounded to see Ann Hausman, Florence McClusky, and Gwendolyn Dickey chatting together at a table. We discussed "Auld Lang Syne" times and went to a ball game. It was a contest between the Cats and Bombers. In the lineup were several familiar names among them were George Schmitt, Albert Marchetti, Arthur Weaver, and Harold Derr on the Cats, and John Greer, Samuel Neely, and Charles Mason on the Bombers. A good game was won by the Bombers 6-5. The Cats were coached by a Collingdale graduate. The score card was in memory of Kenneth Marshall, who in winning the running race to the Moon had fallen back to earth and broken his neck. On retiring to our Hotel we passed the Malcolm Brown Department Stores, Incorporated. Here as part of the sales staff were Russell Moore, Thomas Jenkins, Walter Mudd, Edith and Emma Principato, Alice Bell, Mary and Horace Mullen, and Helen Angelo. They took us to see the new offices of the owners and here Gloria Wheatly, Margaret Campbell, Alice Wright, Ann Dougherty, Mildred Dawson, and Margaret Speers were secretaries and stenographers in the head office.

After happy exchanges we returned to the street and saw a new shift of policemen on duty. Among them were Milton Bishop and Samuel Stevens. The latter told me that George Wharton was the most beloved preacher in all Harlem. After I finished my stay, we returned to Philadelphia by the Hagele Airlines, owned by Raymond Hagele. We boarded the plane and Anita Buck, the smiling independent stewardess, greeted us and told us that John Tate and Philip Simpson were pilots. I hope to see the rest of my classmates. As we walked off the Philadelphia air port grounds, we met Mr. and Mrs. Struble, who were returning from State college. Their son, a former member of our "Junior Faculty," had just graduated. They told us that they had just read in the newspaper that Miss Merrells would be buried tomorrow in her beloved West Virginia.

FOOTBALL

Under the guidance of Mr. Ralph Stover the Darby High School football team has completed a successful season. This hard fighting team overcame many obstacles. Even when our opponents were faster or outweighed us, we put up a fight for every inch of ground. As we evaluate the records of our past football teams since 1927, we learn that we have won 71 games, lost 38, and tied 17. This is a record of which Darby High School students are proud.

The 1941 edition of the Blue and White football team opened its season by running away with an 18 to 0 decision at the expense of Swarthmore. In our second game our boys came through by getting two touchdowns in the last half and winning 14 to 6 over Lansdowne. A strong Darby defensive stand denied a valiant Prospect Park bid for victory and, with our backs ripping off yardage, we came through with a 12 to 7 victory. In the Glen-Nor game we were on the wrong end of a 33 to 0 score. Coming back with plenty of fight, we invaded Yeadon and brought back not only "the bacon" but also the ball. Next Ridley Park tried to out run Kenneth Marshall, but were much too slow as we were on the big end of a 26 to 0 score. Demonstrating that a Stover team never loses its fighting spirit, the Blue and White gave Ridley Township a trouncing they'll never forget. The boys came through in the fourth quarter with a 18 to 13 score. From end to end the Darby line charged and outfought Media and with our backfield working like a clock, we won 7 to 0. Our boys did not eat much turkey on Thanksgiving Day, as Collingdale kicked a field goal and won 3 to 0.

HOCKEY

Under the able coaching of Miss Carlson the Varsity Hockey Squad achieved a splendid record. At the end of the season the girls had won four games and tied three, thus they came through with an undefeated season. Darby High's lucky team also placed Jean Thompson on the All-Delaware County Hockey Squad. The co-captains elected for the season were Dorothy Hill and Catherine Shillady.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Our team started off with a grand rush and won their first two games. However, some trouble caused a losing streak. Then the team came back fighting and finished third in the Section Two League. Our team entered the Kiwanis Tournament, reached the semi-finals, and lost to Lansdowne in the finals.

The team consisted of lanky "Junior" Joyce at center, "Buck" Marchetti and "Johnny" Greer as forwards, and "Dick" Martin at guard with "Don" Bretherick and "Bud" Mink alternating at the other guard positions. The substitutes were "Walt" Mudd, "Barney" Smith, "Ears" Chavous, and "Merry" Merriweather.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The 1941 girls' basketball group displayed excellent teamwork and cooperation. This entirely new team deserves much credit, since it won four out of nine games. The guards were the main-stay. They not only kept the score of the other teams down, but also kept the spirit of our team up. These "spark plugs" merit much credit. Hats off to Dorothy Hill, Jane Waldie, Adeline Adukoski, Harriet Neely, Cledith Robinson, and Thelma Langford for their fine work.

The forwards' height hampered the season's plays. Finding themselves frequently on the small side of the score at the end of the first half by their combined efforts and shooting ability, they were able to win games or raise scores. For the points earned this year credit goes to Rose Colangelo, Ann Hartnett, Harriet Zisovitz, and Madeline Boyce.

Miss Esther Carlson, Coach, deserves much credit for producing such an excellent team. Luella Gillin was the manager.

BASEBALL

The 1941 baseball team of Darby High School will depend largely on spirit rather than on experience for their victories.

Captain George Schmitt and John Greer are the only letter men on the squad.

After losing the two opening games, the team came back with plenty of spirit to defeat our traditional rival Collingdale by a score of 9 to 5 after trailing 5 to 0 in the fifth inning.

We expect more victories as the season progresses.

TRACK TEAM

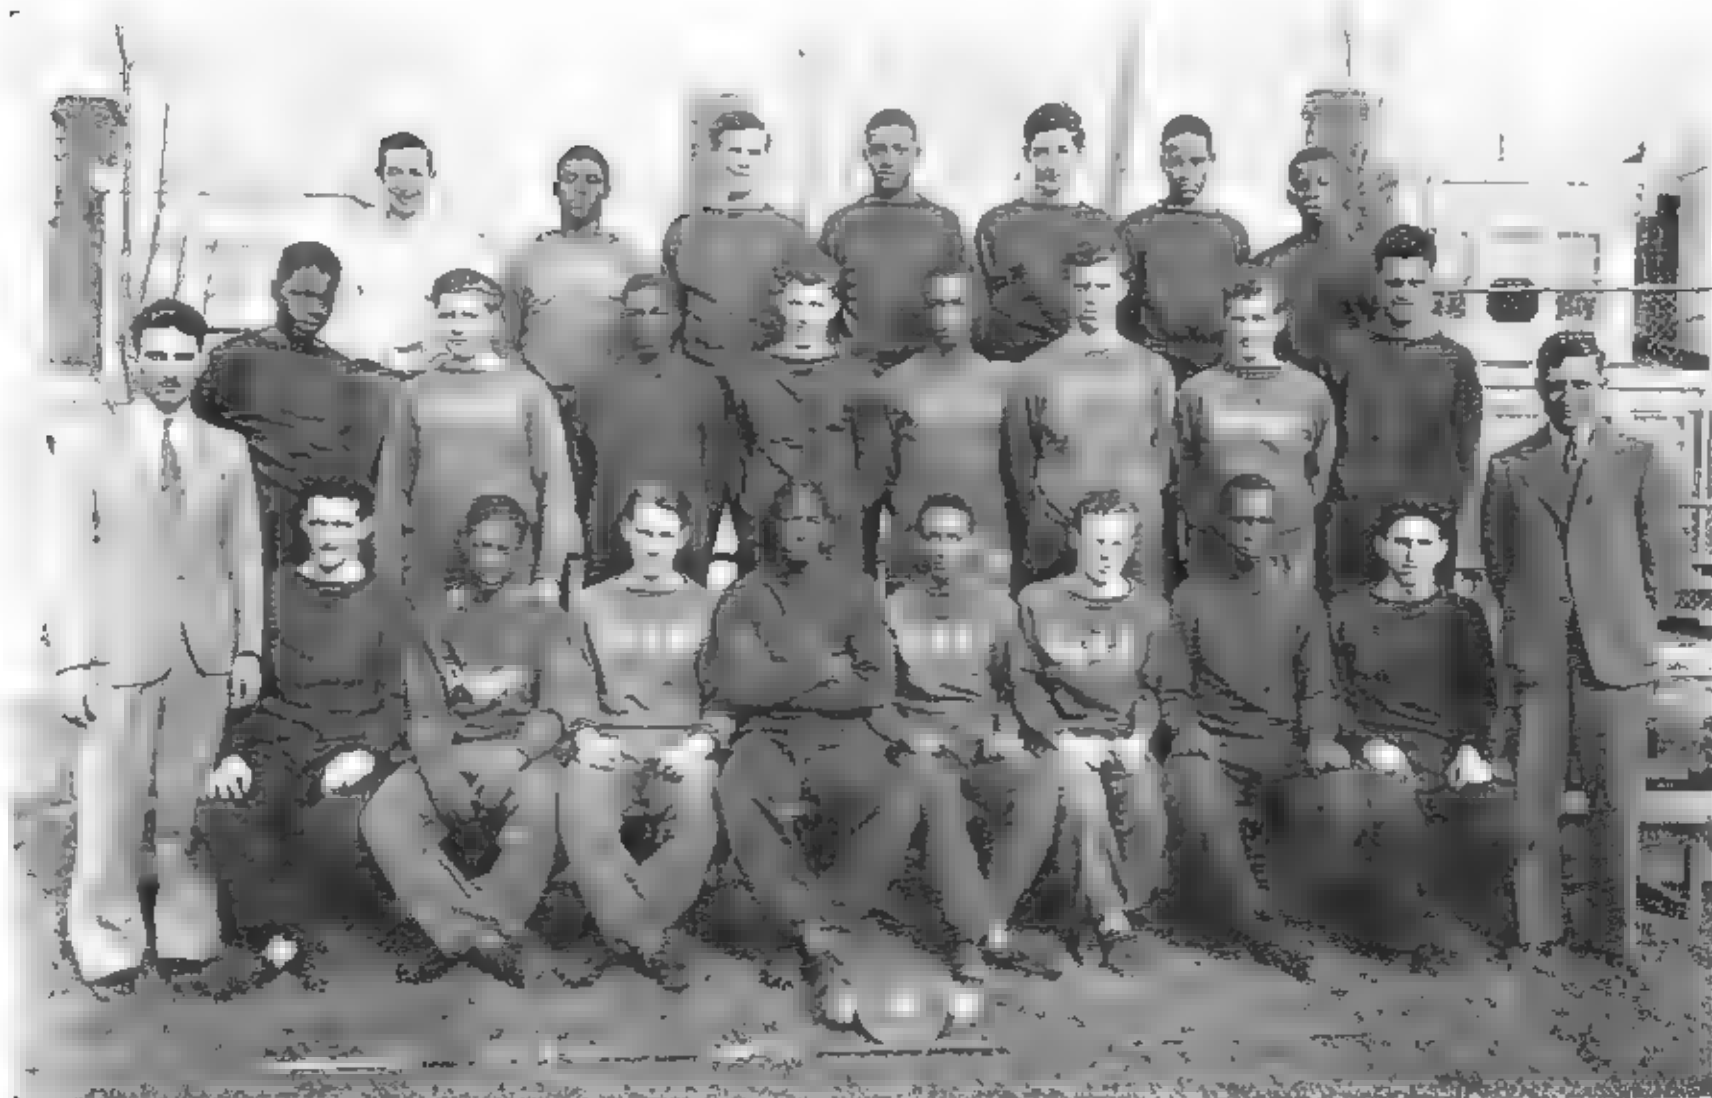

Under the competent coaching of Mr. Stauffer the Track Team has been trying courageously to register in the winning column. Built around the fast-stepping star, Kenneth Marshall, and his hearty track men, the team looks very promising for their future meets.

In the Delaware County meet at Lansdowne on April 19, Captain Kenneth Marshall was individual high scorer, winning both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. As a result of these victories he was presented with a handsome trophy and two medals.

CHEERLEADING

The cheerleaders had a very successful year, this year. They cheered the teams, both football and basketball, along to victories. Perhaps this was due to the splendid way they co operated among themselves and others. They looked very well on the football fields and basketball courts. They received a new apparel consisting of a dark blue skirt and a white sweater. The co-captains wore a dark blue letter, and the others on the squad wore white letters. They pulled the teams out of many tight spots by constantly cheering. They all possessed much pep and vigor, and certainly made our school feel proud when we were competing with other schools.

THE BAND

In presenting the Darby High School Blue and White Band this year, we feel proud to realize that it is considered one of the best symphonic and marching bands in the East.

The band's generous response to render frequent programs has made it greatly appreciated both in the school and in the borough. The vast attendance at this year's band concert indicate the interest of this Borough's people in their band. To see this group start to marching thrills the onlookers hearts. The addition of the drum majors and color guards has added splendor and beauty to our already colorful band.

The excellent leadership of Mr. L. Barry Tedesco has given this community is best band. We can expect more development.

ORCHESTRA

An orchestra is an asset to any organization, but to a school it is life itself. For those interested in music, an outlet for giving expression to their talent is offered, as well as entertainment for the remainder of the school.

Our orchestra, directed by Mr. Gerald Harter, has supplied music for the Faculty, Senior, and Junior plays, the operetta, and a guest program at the John Bartram High School. This year an innovation of an open-air concert on our athletic field occurred. The Varisty Trio, composed of Dorothy Tramdack, Elizabeth Haldeman, and Mildred Smiley, added much by their singing.

First Violins: Clement Hunt, Melvin Caine, Florence Cox, Jane Thompson, Anna May Hyde, Gwendolyn Gates, Burton Caine, Anthony Fiorito. Second Violins: Paul Mohrbach, Morris Zalmanovitch, Albert Colangelo, Victor Tenaglia, Eva Jean Kauffman, Grace Frist, Hilda White, Jessie Cressman. Flute: Ruth Neely. Cello: David Munyan, Richard Brown. Bass: Emma Stephey, Carl Spaeter. First Trumpet: James Boice, William Massey. Second Trumpet: William Dickey, Charles Hild. Trombone: Ralph Ivins, Oscar Henderson. Baritone: Ralph Ivins. Horn: William Gilligan, Solomon White. Clarinets: Melvin Cox, Eugene Rothberg, William Worthington, George Horn, Owen Ellis, Martin Cox. Saxophone: Betty Stevenson, George Burns. Piano: Esther White, Mildred Goldstein, Antonette Hyde. Tympani: Jack Hawk. Drums: Edward Thomas.

CHORAL CLUB

The Choral Club of sixty mixed voices presented successfully several concert and radio programs throughout the school year. This group likewise comprised the nucleus of the annual operetta. A Christmas program was rendered to the school and repeated from radio broadcasting station, W F I L, on the Suburban Schools Program sponsored by the Southeastern Convention District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. An innovation this year was the project, which provided suitable robes in the school's colors. The outstanding group in the club was the Varsity Girls' Trio, composed of Mildred Smiley, soprano; Elizabeth Haldeman, mezzo soprano; and Dorothy Tramdack, alto, who presented many happy and entertaining occasions for their listeners with their renditions of semi-classical and popular tunes.

The director of the club, Mr. William H. Stine, hopes to develop many good voices from the present organization with the potentialities which he believes now exist in this group

Camera Club

The Camera Club is under the sponsorship of Mr. Leon Schrage. It was formed to promote an interest in the taking, developing, and printing of pictures and in photography in general. During the last two years, the Club has completely equipped a dark-room. Many of the photographs in this yearbook were contributed by members of the club.

Library Club

The officers of the club are as follows:

President

Oliver Deaver
Elsie Gaul

Vice president

Mary Lafferty
Josephine DeGenova

Secretary

Florence Junck
Julia Maucher

Treasurer

Ethel Campbell
Josephine Natale

Adviser

Miss Doris Garner

The purpose of the Library Club is to give those interested some elementary training in library work. To accomplish this members work in the library before and after school and during study periods. Further activities of the club are carried out by committees which prepare displays and posters for the bulletin board, carry out social activities, and organize interesting club programs.

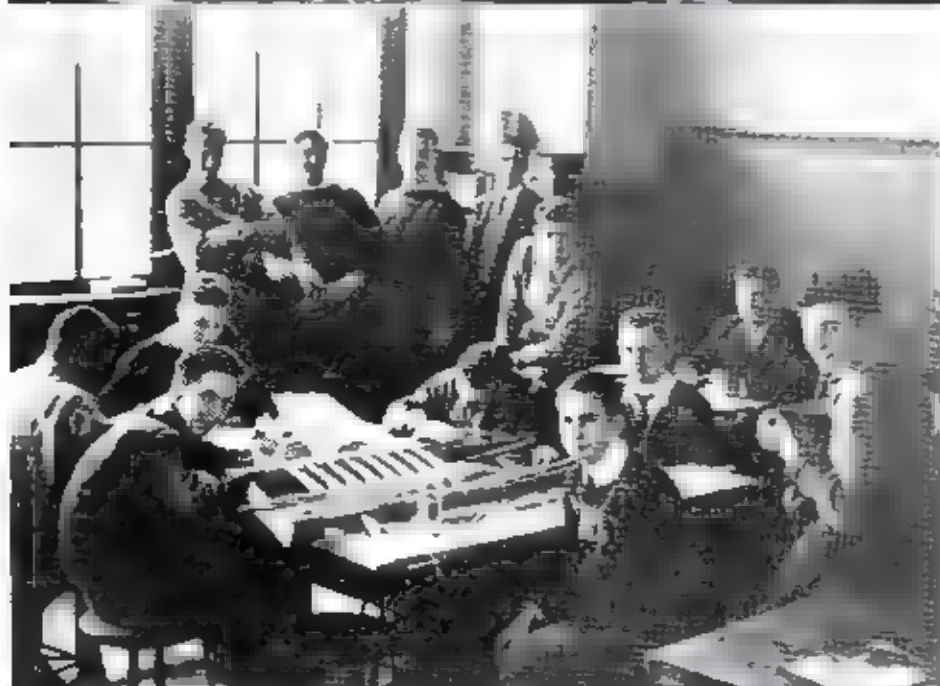

Arts and Craft

The Arts and Crafts club is supervised by Miss Huff, but is more arts than crafts. In addition to work being done in pencil, pastels, and paints, Walter Ruppert is modeling a horse's head in clay. Jean Thompson is making a design to reproduce on a thin sheet of copper to mount as wall pictures. Miss Huff enjoys working with the members of her club. It is based on the thought that everyone does what he likes best and no specific assignments are made, which plan has proved very satisfactory.

Algeon Club

In April, 1939, a group of Mathematics students entered in the Temple University Mathematics Society Competition Examination. They met before and after school for several weeks to prepare for this test. It was in October 1939 that the Algeon Club under Miss Label's sponsorship was formed to provide extra training, pleasure, and opportunities for those Junior and Senior College Preparatory students, who are especially interested in the more difficult and challenging applications of secondary Mathematics.

Aviation Club

The purpose of this club is to help the boys who are interested in constructing model planes to better their experiences in the aviation field.

The boys in the club build models which are powered by gasoline engines or by rubber. The gasoline models have an average wing span of six feet, the rubber powered models are smaller. At this time the club is building a six foot span gasoline powered model. It is a "Buccaneer Standard." The boys busy building this model which is nearly completed, are Raymond Hagele, Harold Barret, and Roland Hamilton.

Magazines with news of model aviation are available to the boys. One new issue of the "Model Airplane News" is obtained each month. The teacher in charge of the club is Mr. John Coulin.

Repair Club

The activities of the Repair Club are numerous and diversified, from tightening a screw in a pencil sharpener to repairing a door check, however, fixing chairs and stools are their specialties. Each fellow takes care of one or two rooms, depending upon their size, and when he completes his assignment he helps another club member. Mr. George Christman is the adviser.

Cooking Club

The main purpose of the Cooking Club is to further boys' knowledge of how to cook. Many boys do not know how to make candy, cookies, and other things, but they are taught these things in this club during the year.

The boys find in entering the cooking class that Miss Chittick has written a recipe on the black board. This recipe is usually most popular with the boys. The portions of each ingredient is measured, and the boys begin to work at their cooking. When the cooking is completed and Miss Chittick gives her approval that it is done, the boys sit down at a table and eat their own cooked food.

CRIER CLUB

Bringing you notice of school events through editorials, special features, and gossip "hot off the press," has been the Crier's task and pleasure for another year. Once again under Miss Ruth McCrone's fine supervision the club has come through with the news, as you want it and when you want it.

STUDENT COUNCIL

In October, 1940, these officers were elected and installed in their offices: Dorothy Tramdack, president; Jean Sipler, vice president; and Elizabeth Haldeman, secretary. Joseph Basilio was appointed chief monitor.

A disturbance occurring at the conclusion of a football game in November resulted in our Council assuming responsibility for good conduct at all future scholastic activities. Panel discussions were held with Collingdale's High School Student Council, which resulted in finer sportsmanship in their respective grandstands. Student Council allocated financial aid to some clubs and activities, and also sold school jewelry. The Council sponsored the Bazaar Dance and awarded prizes for contests. It conducted a dance of its own on March 26.

During the course of the year these representatives were sent on the following conferences, at Coatesville, Dorothy Tramdack, Elizabeth Haldeman, and Joseph Burke; at Wilmington Jane Jantzen, William Castagna, and John Tyler, at Norristown Jean Sipler, Dorothy Tramdack, and Elizabeth Haldeman; at Chletenham, Ruth Scarborough, Eleanor Crompton, and John Tate.

Work on the hand book has been revived with the hope that next year all students entering this school will be benefited by having its information.

DENTAL HYGIENE CLUB

Activities of this club started in 1939. It serves a threefold purpose: (1) to enlighten students who have questions on dental hygiene and dentistry; (2) to train assistants for the dental clinic; (3) to instruct members in the ways and means of keeping their teeth sound and their mouths healthy.

THE DENTAL CLINIC

The clinic was established in 1936. Its program has been expanded to include:

- (1) Service to deserving children.
- (2) Annual survey and check of dental conditions.
- (3) Training of assistants.
- (4) Club activities in both the Junior and Senior High Schools.

The purpose of this program has been to prepare those coming in contact with this service that they approach and seek dental service with an attitude of appreciation. Neglect and ignorance are the most powerful influences of fear. Many times this fear may be overcome by the pain produced in decayed teeth or by stories of other people who suffer because of neglect.

As a reminder to some and as an invaluable advice to all, the entire high school would enjoy the future to a greater degree, if they keep in mind the three major benefits to be derived from keeping the teeth in perfect condition.

1. Mastication. Perfect teeth and the complement of the dental arch enable one to cut, tear, and grind food properly. This is the basis of food digestion.

2. Esthetics. The teeth are a landmark of beauty. Discoloration or distortion of any of them detracts from the esthetic value of the face. They give the face a pleasing contour and keep muscles in proper tone and form.

3. Health. Good and perfect teeth are conducive to better general body health and to greater vitality. Infected or bad teeth will bring about ill health by a double attack on vital resistance. One attack comes directly from the infection of the teeth, and the other attack comes from the improper and insufficient digestion of foods consumed because of poor mastication.

THE DARBY TOWNSHIPS

Both Darby and Upper Darby constituted but one township up to 1786 though separated previous to that time for many purposes. Under Penn's government the settlement of Darby commenced in 1682, and progressed for a time more rapidly than any other settlement in Delaware County. It was first recognized as a municipal district in 1683, when Thomas Worth was appointed Constable by the Court. The ancient district of Calcon Hook was annexed to Darby in 1686. It then contained six settlements, viz., those of Morton Mortonson, Peter Peterson, Hance Urin, Swan Boon, Hance Boon, and Matthias Natsilas.

Touching the derivation of the name of the township, Dr. Smith advances the following:

"Perhaps the opinion is universal that our ancestors who came from the county of Derby (properly Derbyshire), in England, corrupted the spelling of the name of their former place of residence when they, in kind remembrance, adopted it for their home in America. The corruption, if it be one, was effected in England before our ancestors emigrated to America. In the 'New World of Words,' published in 1671, Darby and Derbyshire are given, but not Derby nor Derbyshire; and in the certificates brought over by early Friends it is almost uniformly spelled with a instead of e. The author of the work referred to makes the name of the English town a contraction of the word Derwentby, 'because it standeth on the river Derwent.' This would make the proper spelling of the word —Derby, but it is clear that our ancestors brought the name with them as it was generally written when they migrated to America, and so it has remained, notwithstanding that fastidious persons have made efforts from time to time to change it."

The Darby Mills, originally known by that name, were erected about the year 1695 or 1696. In a deed executed in 1697, they are mentioned as "three water grist mills and fulling mill." It is not known that a fulling-mill of earlier days had been erected in Pennsylvania.

Darby Township proper was one of the original townships into which old Chester County was at first divided. Among the early settlers of what is now Darby Township were Hance Urin, Peter Peterson, Andries Boon, Hans Jurien, Morton Mortonson, Matthias Natsilas, Edmund Cartlidge, John and Thomas Smith.

Dr. Smith tells us that, "In 1747, the township was divided by the authority of a township meeting for every purpose except the support of the poor. The dividing line of this temporary division was further south (at least in part) than that which now separates the two townships. A permanent division of the township was agreed upon at a township meeting in 1786, and the line recommended by the meeting was confirmed by the Court as the dividing line between the two townships: the north part of the line taking the name of Upper Darby."

The principal town in Darby Township, or rather which was within its limits and under the municipal government of the township until incorporated into a borough.

DARBY

Darby is a very ancient settlement, although very few improvements tending to develop it into a town of its present importance were made prior to its incorporation, which was effective by act of Assembly past and approved March 3, 1853. From this period its progress and prosperity as a town have been steady and rapid. A few years subsequent to the reception of corporate honors, railroad communication with Philadelphia was opened by the construction of "The Darby Improvements of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad," which infused a new impetus and fresh energy into the resident population, who were themselves astonished at the rapid growth of their ancient village. It gradually became the resort of wealthy Philadelphians during the summer months, and several magnificent country residences adorned the town, offering a pleasing contrast to the few remaining venerable dwellings, some of which have withstood the storms and sunshine of more than a century and a half.

The age required is twenty-one,
I wish that I could go,
But when I tried to join the ranks
The man in charge said "No."

Urging I do all sorts of things,
Like shining guns and such,
But he only looked and smiled at me,
And thanked me very much.

He said "You aren't old enough,
You'll surely have to wait."
But "Goodness me, I don't see why,
I'm every bit of eight."

SOME HISTORIC BUILDINGS IN DARBY

History grows around institutions or certain institutions develop definite trends of progress. I have been asked to set forth the influences that radiated from these institutions of Darby—The Friends' Meeting House, the Friends' School, The first Public School, The Darby Library, and The Buttonwood Inn or Tavern. Each of these in its own way played an important part in the life of Darby.

I feel that to these should be added the Darby Mill or Mills, as the beginning of the industrial life of a community, which early became an important center of industry. The very location of Darby, at the meeting place of three great roads (the road from Chester to Darby—the oldest, the road from Darby to Haverford and Radnor 1687, and the road from Darby to Philadelphia) and at the head of the tide-water on Darby Creek, made it a natural center for industry and trade. In fact one of the earliest settlers, William Wood, who came here in 1683 with the definite purpose of erecting a flour-mill and going into that business, found the Darby settlement most suited to that purpose. The mill erected on Darby Creek at the foot of Mill Street in 1695 or earlier and standing until 1927 was the beginning of an industrial life, which was far reaching and which for generations enhanced the material progress of Darby, that for two centuries has been an industrial center of importance.

Earlier than this mill, and of vast influence in other spheres, that of religious, social and political or civic, was the Friends' Meeting House. Not the present one hundred and thirty-six year old building, but the two earlier Meeting Houses which stood in the present Burying Ground on the hill, a one acre lot deeded to the Society by the most prominent man of the early settlers, John Blunston. The Friends, who had come here for the free exercise of their religious beliefs, held meetings from their arrival, but it was not until 1687 that they

FRIENDS' MEETING HOUSE

The present Meeting House of Darby, Pennsylvania, was built in 1851. The Meeting House was built by Quakers, the first being built in 1687, and the second in 1699-1701. Both were destroyed by fire. The present building was built of English Pines in 1851. In 1907 the Centennial Anniversary of the present Meeting House was celebrated.

built a log Meeting House to be followed by one of stone completed in 1701. For generations the religious and social life of Darby and surrounding country for miles was influenced and controlled by this Friends' Meeting. Here marriages were approved and solemnized, births were recorded, discipline was administered; and the religious and social problems of the community were considered and settled. It would be impossible to estimate the completeness of the wholesale religious and social influence of this Meeting. For over one hundred and twenty years this was the only religious organization in the community. And for over two hundred years it was a strong influence in Darby for righteousness and peace.

But the ancient Meetinghouse served other purposes than religion. It was for generations the center of the civic and educational forces of the township. In the Meetinghouse the officers of the Township held their monthly political or civic meetings. Frequently the Friends' Monthly religious meeting accommodated the Township civic meeting. This was only natural as the same men were members of both Meetings, and Church and State were almost one. The community was almost entirely Quaker. The old Township Meeting Book, still extant, has the date of 1694 for the first civic law or regulation.

The form of government was very democratic. All residents were eligible for office and were chosen for office without their seeking it and often against their will. Those refusing to serve were fined. The local government was simple. The officers were: overseers of the poor, road supervisors, constables, viewers of fences, etc. Under the simple regulation of the Townmeeting a well-ordered community resulted. Even if the Townsmen did order "stocks" set up in 1731, there is no record that they were ever used.

The Friends were early and seriously concerned with the matter of the education of their children and in Darby, as in their other settlements, schools were provided. For generations the school was held in the Meetinghouse. The earliest record of the employment of a teacher was in September 1692, when Benjamin Cliff was engaged for the year, the school term being for a full year less two weeks. In 1815 a small school was built near the stone house on the present Meeting House lot for a school for girls, and was named "Willow Hall." The school on the lot at the entrance to the Burying ground was for boys and was known as "Buttonwood Hall." It is not known when this was built. It later became the school for boys and girls until discontinued in 1917 and torn down in 1923. In 1855 a second story had been added and in 1890 a two story addition. This may be regarded as the Friends' School of Darby.

After the Public School was established in Darby, the Friends' School took on the nature of a private school mainly for the children of Friends. But through its long history it had some fine teachers who left their impress upon the children, who became influential citizens of Darby and elsewhere.

From 1735 to 1834 there was a small one room school-house in what is now Mt. Zion Cemetery. This was a Subscription School. The first Public School under the Act of 1834 was held in the building erected on New Ninth Street in 1841. This building was outgrown in 1855 and the Yellow School on Ridge Avenue took its place. You will notice that many years elapsed from the passage of the School Law before Darby started a Public School. The Friends' School was taking care of the educational needs of the community. The old building on Ninth Street was sold to the Borough for a Town Hall and jail in 1855. In recent years it has been restored to its original condition. From this humble beginning has grown our splendid school-buildings and equipment of the present. This September, 1941, will be the century anniversary of the first Public School founded in Darby and should be marked by an appropriate celebration. Hundreds of Darby boys and girls have secured their education and inspiration for larger life from the Friends' School and our Public Schools. After the Church and the Home, the School is the greatest influence in anyone's life.

DARBY'S FIRST PUBLIC SCHOOL

Another institution ministering to the cultural life of Darby is the Darby Library, the second oldest Library Company in the United States, the oldest being the Franklin Library Company of Philadelphia, founded in 1731. It is not a Library but a Library Company, an institution founded and maintained by and for a company of stock holders on May 1, 1743 by twenty-nine prominent persons of the community. Until 1872 it was housed in private houses in Darby. In the early years when Libraries were few and books scarce in most homes, this institution served a cultural need. The thirty or more of the original books yet in the Library testify to the cultural tastes of its founders. In recent years the Library has been a great help to the school children of Darby as well as supplying the reading needs of adults, since the Library is now open to the public.

THE BUTTONWOOD INN (or tavern)

THE BUTTONWOOD HOTEL, BUILT ABOUT 1700.

The old Inns and Taverns of America have had their part in the history of the Country. The Inn known as the Buttonwood Tavern since 1866, earlier bore several names. It changed hands many times. During the Revolutionary era it was called "The Mariner's Compass." The original building was the home of Benjamin Lobb at first. It became a legal tavern in 1739 when George Wood was licensed to keep a tavern in the house.

It was not the first Public House in Darby. An earlier one was kept by John Test, 1713-1717, on the site of the First National Bank. However, The Buttonwood Inn was for a long time the outstanding tavern of Darby. In the days when Darby had no Public Hall or place of assembly many important meetings were held in the Tavern. The early meetings of the Darby Fire Company, organized in 1775, were held in the old Tavern. For many years it was the terminus of the "horse-car line" of Philadelphia, the horses being kept in the Tavern's stables. There is no evidence to prove the fact, but tradition says Washington was entertained at a dinner in the old Inn, and that the door was so low he had to stoop to enter it. An aged Buttonwood tree near one corner of the building gave the Inn its name. It remained standing for years and is seen in the accompanying picture.

THE PRESENT DARBY SCHOOL BUILDING

THE FUTURE

The 100th anniversary of the opening of Darby's first Public School Building will occur in September, 1941. This restored structure is the present Borough jail.

The 36th anniversary of Miss Clara Smith's service as a teacher in the Darby Public Schools will occur in September, 1941. She will also celebrate her 50th anniversary as a teacher in Pennsylvania's public schools in June, 1943.

The 31st anniversary of Mr. William Buckman's service as secretary to the Darby Borough School Board and Darby Borough Council will occur in 1941.

The 25th anniversary of Superintendent Douthett's service in Darby's Public Schools will occur in September, 1944.

The 20th anniversary of Reverend Charles S. Jones' pastorate of Darby's Trinity Lutheran Church will occur in February, 1942.

The 20th anniversary of Reverend Charles S. Jones's pastorate of Darby's First Presbyterian Church will occur in January, 1942.

The 20th anniversary of Miss Frances Label's service in Darby High School will occur in May, 1943.

The 20th anniversary of Mr. J. Wallace Saner's service as Principal of Darby High School will occur in September, 1943.

The 12th anniversary of Mr. Arthur Bretherick's service as a Commissioner and President of Darby's School Board will occur in December, 1941.

The 6th anniversary of Mr. Rene Callec's service as Secretary to Darby's School Board will occur in November, 1941. Mr. Callec is the first young man to answer "the call to the Colors" in the present Selective Service in Darby's School System. He is an alumnus of Darby High School of the class of 1926.
